DR. VLADO FILIPOVIĆ

Dear Dr. Filipović,

Following the suggestions that have come from the members of the scientific community of Montenegro, we are pleased to invite you to attend the Days of Scientific Diaspora of Montenegro (DND-2024), to be held in Podgorica, from October 18 at 9am till October 19 at 9pm (suggested travel dates are October 17 and 20, 2024). For your future planning, the same dates will apply to all future DND conferences, so that the members of the scientific diaspora could plan well ahead of time.

Only physical presence at this conference is appreciated. Each attendee speaks three times, during one of the two days: (1) In the morning, 10 minutes plenary and popular for the general audience (sciences, technology, engineering, math, medicine, informatics, ...), (2) In the early afternoon, 30 minutes in one of the parallel sessions for local experts in your field, and (3) In the late afternoon, at the panel, shortly, just to stress, in about 4 sentences, about the following four issues: (a) what is the major trend in your field, (b) what is important for Montenegro, (c) what is important for professors of Montenegro, and

(d) what is important for students of Montenegro.

If you accept this invitation, before June 15, we expect you to send the following to the e-mail address from which you received this invitation: (1) Name, (2) Affiliation, (3) Country, and (4) Abstract, on strictly 95 to 105 words (organizers reserve the right to shorten the abstracts longer than 105 words, or to prolong the shorter ones, using data available at the Internet).

Unless all these four pieces of information reach us by the above deadline, we will assume that you prefer to come to one of the future conferences (you know what are the dates of all future conferences).

If convenient for you, we would like to know, before May 31, 2024, if you will come or not, while the above 4 pieces of information you can send us any time before June 15, 2024.

Full articles of 4 to 10 pages of the DND format (like IEEE Transactions on Computers) are due by December 31, 2024, and are not obligatory, but are highly recommended, since a solid track of this important event is necessary to remain for future generations of faculty and students. The minimal number of references, in the APA format, is 10. The special book with articles of DND in the year N will appear just before DND in the year N+1.

The structure of both the abstract and the corresponding article should be as in the attached guideline (one abstract and one article cover the first two presentations of each attendee - this is possible since both presentations are on the same topic - only one is popular and broad, while the other is detailed and deep).

The conference fee is waived for all attendees. If you accept this invitation by the above specified deadline, a selected office will contact you about the logistics issues and social programs, some time in September 2024.

We are looking forward to hearing from you soon!

Sincerely yours,

Professor Nedeljko Latinović,
Chairman of the Program Committee for the DND
